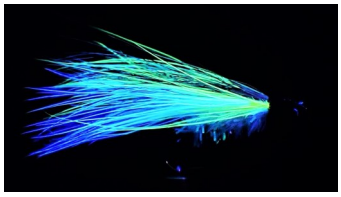
Vickie's Predator Minnow - Triggers big fish and aggressive takes

Vickie's Olive Predator Minnow

My Predator Minnow is perfect for targeting large trout and bass cruising shallow shorelines hunting for minnows. Its sleek profile incorporates UV materials with fox and marabou tails to create a distinctive streamer pattern irresistible to large trout and bass.



Yellow Predator Minnow under UV Light

You will feel your adrenaline spike when a big fish slams the Predator Minnow devouring what it thinks is a small forage fish or minnow. Be prepared with stout tippets as takes can be aggressive!

Colors : Dark Olive, Gray, Yellow and Brown available in size #8

Trout caught with my Gray Predator Minnow

Copyright © 2021 FliesByVickie, All rights reserved

Caught on Olive Predator Minnow

How to Fish: Fish the Predator Minnow during low light conditions such as the first few hours before the sun hits the water and just before sunset. Cast perpendicular to shallow shorelines which will present the fly's profile. Trout normally attack a minnow from its side to stun it before they swallow it.

Target your search along shallow weed beds, underwater structure, or along rocky ledges where the large fish hunt for minnows. I prefer using an intermediate 7-foot sink tip line because it maintains the fly in the top two feet where minnows are located. I recommend short, 4-inch, quick and jerky retrieves.

Gambusia minnows, also known as the western mosquito fish, hang near the shoreline.

Copyright © 2021 FliesByVickie, All rights reserved

Bass caught with a Brown Predator Minnow

During the summer, large bass inhaled the UV Predator Minnow when fished near the shoreline .

Color selections available in hook size #8:

Gray Predator Minnow

Yellow Predator Minnow

Olive Predator Minnow

Brown Predator Minnow

Copyright © 2021 FliesByVickie, All rights reserved